Mission Statement

St. Frances Cabrini Church is a Roman Catholic parish community with ethnic diversity. Our central focus is the Eucharist from which all aspects of parish life emanate. Being a Spirit filled, prayerful and proactive parish, we foster Christian family life, evangelization, and the spiritual nourishment of all parishioners, both young and old. We endeavor to follow the example of St. Frances Cabrini and attend to all God's children in their temporal and spiritual needs in order to alleviate their suffering. We do all in the name of Jesus who is Lord and Savior of us all.

Our parish enjoys a rainbow of activities for all ages in Liturgy and in Service. If you wish to join or volunteer, please contact the rectory.

November 19, 2017
33rd Sunday in Ordinary Time
MT 25:14-30

All three readings this week ask us what we are doing with the time of our life. The worthy woman is a model of God's faithful ones who go about doing good in every circumstance.. Paul addressed a community anxious for predictions and tells them not to worry about the end but rather about the way living day to day . If they live as children of the light they have nothing to worry about . With that preparation, we come to Jesus, parable of the talents. Here we have the question of what we do with the time and circumstances of our lives, but also very directly the question of why we do what we do and what it has to do with God.

The situation Jesus sets up is imaginable in spite of its fantastic dimensions. The people listening to Jesus could envision a wealthy businessman who had a plethora of servants . Some servants would typically be left in charge of the household, etc. Some others would be prepared and able to carry on the master's work. The latter were the specially chosen ones, the ones who had a knack for the master's business.

When the master was going somewhere , he gave his servants charge of everything. In this case, he handed over a good portion of his fortune to the specialists in his business so that they could continue his work. Nobody should feel too sorry for the servant who received the least— what he got was in the realm of a million dollars. What he did was not unimaginable under the circumstances. Where there were no banks one could keep money safe by hiding it; a secret burial place was very secure. The factor which made all the difference was that he didn't like his master enough to care about what he did for him.

The trouble was that the servant didn't do what the master wanted . The master himself could have buried the money or even put it in the bank! It was as if the master had given these servants seeds to use while he was gone and the servant put them carefully in a cupboard , saying that he was keeping them safe from floods, droughts or a plague of locusts.

The master handed his fortune over to his servants so that they could keep his business going. Those who did so not only increased the master's fortune, but they became more like him as they did his work as they carried forth his mission. When the master returned , he didn't look at the amounts and rejoice more for a return of five talents than for the return of two. To both of those servants he said, " Come, share your master's joy," which was another way of saying , " Come to my feast!"

The whole truth came out when the servant who had received a mere one million reported in. Before he ever spoke of what he did, he told the master what he thought of him: " You are demanding, you harvest what you did not plant, you go for everything you can get . So I decided to have nothing to do with your projects. Look , I return to you exactly what you gave me, nothing more nothing less." In effect that servant was saying, " I want nothing to do with your endeavors." While the story says that the master ordered that he be thrown out, that was no more than the logical conclusion of a process the servant himself had set in motion. He had already chosen to exclude himself from the master's business. If he wouldn't take part in the master's plan, it was impossible for him to share the master's joy.

Today's readings remind us that everything we have is a gift from God given so that we may know God's joy. Each of us must then decide what to make of the time of our lives.

Social Ministry HappeningsNovember 19, 2017outreachsfc@gmail.com

Thanks to the overwhelming generosity of our parishioners we were able to provide holiday meals for 365people this Thanksgiving . Special appreciation to our religious students and all who assisted in the distribution of these feasts.

We will be preparing the Giving Tree shortly . We usually have several parishioners who enjoy donating bicycles for Christmas, if you are interested please contact me at Outreach and we will match you with a family. Since there is a $35 limit on all gifts , there won't be any gift tags for the bikes on the trees.

PLEASE DONATE ONLY NONPERISHABLE FOOD ITEMS. THANK YOU

Be sure to check our parish website sfccoram.org for emergency hotline direct links, update on community assistance information and employment opportunities

LOVE TO KNIT OR CROCHET.....

Then we need you!!!!

This year the St. Frances Cabrini Pro-Life is again looking for people interested in knitting or crocheting blankets for babies. We had many volunteers create beautiful blankets last year once again we wish to thank you for your generosity. Blankets donated this year will be blessed by our priests at the Spiritual Adoption Closing Mass at 11 A.M. on December 31, 2017. The blankets will then be distributed to parents and their precious babies.

To find out more about how you can get involved, or where to bring completed blankets, contact Denise Bugge @ 631-736-6835
